JUST A RHYME

Musso's playing blindman's bluff,
For fear of being treated rough.
He might be anywhere around,
But up to now he can't be found.
One spark puts him in Spain,
Then he's back near home again.
Another says pursuit he'll cheat
In a mountainous retreat.
Rumors of every sort abound,
And probably he's underground.

THE KISS

A kiss is a peculiar proposition, Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it, and the old man has to buy it. The baby's right, the lover's privilege, the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl faith, to a married woman hope, and to an old maid charity.

Ruth Arrol and Caroline Curcio left today to attend normal school in Calgary, which opens Wednesday next.

An RAF station in Southern England has completed a record "Wings for Victory" week, reaching $511, 217.15, although the target was only $13,420. The RAF boys not only save the day for us, but use their pay to buy more wings for victory.

Blairmore barbers were on deck to face a task on Saturday, after about a week's absence. In order to handle some of the crops, the ground had to be gone over three times with a shortening process. Some whippers looked naval-like after the once over.

Miss Geraldine Cottrell, 35, head of the Geraldine School of Art in Toronto for the past ten years, died recently at the home of her parents, Mr.
and Mrs. C. A. Cottrell, at Vancouver.
Mr. Cottrell is assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines.

A two-headed pig arrived in a litter at the Portier ranch near Cowley last week. It had two perfectly formed heads and could eat with either one.
While eating with one, the other went through the same motions with perfect synchronization. It lived twenty-four hours, and probably would have lived longer if it had not become chilled during the night after it was born.

WINNERS AT THE ANNUAL CASTLE RIVER STAMPEDE

The Castle River annual stampede, held on July 21st, was unusually largely attended, mostly by people from The Pass district. The programme as staged was much enjoyed and could not have been favored much better by the weatherman. Apart from one mishap, everything went off on schedule and o.k. Carl Bester, of Macleod, sustained a broken leg in a wild horse scramble, and had to be rushed to the Pincher Creek hospital, where he is reported doing fairly well.

Parade judges were Mr. and Mrs.
Bob Lang, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Tench,
Jack Graham, Clyde Conrow and W.

Pete Legrandeur, Bert Connelly and Sam Hassett. Horse racing was managed and judged by Wilbur Lang,

The marriage took place in Calgary last week of Jean, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Diamond, of Cowley, to Mr. Harry Barnett Finnoe, of Iowa, at present flying instructor at Denver, Colorado, and for some time stationed at Macleod.

Sergt. Pilot and Mrs. W. T. (Mac)
Rudd, of Calgary, were recent visitors with friends in Coleman, proceeding on to Trail. The sergeant is stationed at Quebec City, where he will be joined by Mrs. Rudd and daughter, Marjorie Ann, later.

Alexander Arnold has been sworn in as constable for the village of Cayley. Does this indicate progress on the part of our neighbor, or does it hint that even the most law-abiding spots have purple patches that need checking up?—High River Times.

With the opening of the "Battle for Europe," the task of the Royal Navy is staggering. It is a pleasant fact that today, despite casualties, it has more ships than it had when the war began, thanks to the tremendous speed-up of Britain's shipyards, which built 900 warships during the first three and a half years of the war.
And these shipyards are working at an increased tempo this year.

CAN DO CANNING

WITHOUT SUGAR

Because it is necessary in wartime to save the greatest amount of fruits and vegetables for winter use, home canning is now of greater importance.
Home canning may be carried out successfully and without waste, if strict adherence is given to the directions to be found in the household
Bulletin No. 751 "Wartime Canning."
Which has been prepared by the Consumer Section Dominion Department of Agriculture. Although the amount of sugar is limited due to the war, it does not follow that the greatest amount cannot be canned, because, in the matter of fruit, after the sugar has been stirred for its sterilizing fruit can be canned without sugar.

The bulletin states: "All fruits may be successfully canned without sugar.
Use boiling water instead of syrup.
Add five minutes to time of sterilization given in the timetable. Strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, cherries, currants, plums and rhubarb can be packed in sealers—crushed until the juice overflows, and sterilized allowing five minutes longer than time required when syrup is used. Fruit canned without sugar is excellent for pies and desserts and may be sweetened as usual with a little sugar from the weekly ration. Chemical compounds and 'canning powders' are not recommended because heat sterilization is sufficient for preservation."

The bulletin contains information and directions on every phase of canning fruits and vegetables in the home, and many practical recipes for jams and jellies. It may be obtained by writing to Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

AVOID ACCIDENTS.

PROTECT CHILDREN

During the long vacation period this year, there is a special need for motorists exercising great care to avoid accidents. Thousands of youngsters, no longer at school owing to holiday time, will be playing on the streets and highways, regardless of warnings of the danger of playing on traffic lanes.

The Alberta Motor Association has issued many warnings of the risks involved in letting children play on the streets, but these warnings have not removed the danger.

The co-operation of parents or guardians is essential. They must inform the children of the hazards of the great risk to life or physical injury involved in playing on the streets, and the important need of using every precaution to ensure safety.

Valuable work of school boy patrols no longer is at hand during the summer holidays to protect the children.
They must be told at home that they should use every care to keep out of traffic zones where hazards are involved.

A large mail from the members of the armed forces overseas arrived in Montreal on Sunday by the Canadian government trans-Atlantic air service operated by TCA. The flight of the big transport plane was a non-stop from Britain to Montreal, and brought naval, military and air force personnel and technicians on special missions to Canada, plus 3,000 pounds of mail from the officers and men in the overseas forces. The mail was quickly cleared for various points in Canada.

VITAL STATISTICS

What coal production means in terms of enemy casualties is concre-tely explained to miners of Kopperston in a notice mailed on the bulletin board at the office. Entitled "Just a Little Arithmetic," the notice reads:

"One man day underground equals
five and one-half tons of coal.

"Five and one-half tons of coal equals four tons of coke.

"Four tons of coke equals three and three-quarter tons of steel.

"Three and three-quarter tons of steel equals 375 shrapnel shells (25-pounders).

"375 shrapnel shells equals eight Nazi casualties."—A.P.

Mrs. W. Eddy, of Regina, is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. A. C.
Kemmis, at Waterton.

A valuable new-born calf, the property of J. Rener's dairy, was destroyed by a large black bear near Byron Creek on Wednesday morning to capture the bear.

R. K. Henderson, federal coal consultant, has been chosen independent chairman of a board of arbitration dealing with a dispute in District 18, United Mine Workers of America, and affecting the extraction of sheet iron pillars in the West Canadian collieries at Blairmore, Alberta.—Albertan.

The Royal Navy's motto is "Seek out, engage and destroy." By June, 1942, 6,178,681 tons of the 11,000,000 tons of Axis merchant shipping had been destroyed, captured or put out of action by the Royal Navy and the RAF. In addition the Royal Navy had sunk three Axis (German and Italian) battleships, 15 cruisers, 62 destroyers and, in conjunction with the Royal Canadian and United States navies, sunk or damaged 530 submarines. British submarines, alone, have sunk more than 300 enemy supply ships, including many troop ships, and have damaged many more.

Canadians Have Had Excellent Basic Training

AN ALLIED FORCE COMMAND POST, North Africa—Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, second in command of the Sicilian campaign, told Canadian war correspondents the Canadians have gone far and fast in the battle of Sicily.

At an informal reception held at his North African headquarters Gen. Alexander said "the Canadians are good and they will be jolly good."

"Like the American 45th division they went into the battle untired and have done exceedingly well," the deputy commander-in-chief of the Allied forces added. "The Canadians are fine material. They have had very good basic training and they have learned from the experience of others. They have gone far and fast in this battle. They will be as good as any troops."

The famed commander of the 15th Army group compared the Canadians to a football team. "No matter how much training a team has it doesn't reach its peak until it has had some first class matches," he said.

Then he explained why the Canadians had been put in the centre in Sicily, between the Americans and the British forces.

"Was it deliberate?" asked a correspondent.

"No," replied Gen. Alexander. "The reason was that like the American 45th division, they had come in big ships and had to be transferred to their landing craft in water deep enough to accommodate large ships. The Canadians will profit from experience. All troops need to have battle experience but the Canadian had the advantage of excellent basic training."

"No doubt if one went to the front one would find that they had made small tactical errors that experienced troops don't make but it is from such experiences they profit. The battle experience they are getting in Sicily will make the Canadians among the finest fighting troops there are."

ALASKA HIGHWAY

Canadian And U.S. Governments Agree On Official Name

OTTAWA—The Canadian and U.S. governments have agreed that the highway from Dawson Creek, B.C., to Fairbanks, Alaska, shall be given the official name, "Alaska highway."

The decision was reached by an exchange of notes dated July 19 and made public by the external affairs department.

Choice of an appropriate name for the road, being constructed by U.S. as a defence measure, has been a subject of controversy for some months. Only a few days ago the House of Commons here heard complaints against the name "Alcan highway," which has been fairly widely used.

DOUBLE QUANTITY

Canada Will Send More Frozen Fish To United Kingdom

OTTAWA—Canada plans to send 9,000,000 pounds of frozen fish to the United Kingdom during 1945, more than double the quantity shipped in 1942, under arrangements with Britain announced last month by Fisheries Minister Bertrand.

(In London the Evening Standard said discussions are under way among authorities for shipment of large supplies of fish from Canada and Newfoundland to Britain.)

Of the total 1945 shipment from Canada, about 2,000,000 pounds will be Pacific coast founders. Supplies from the Atlantic provinces will include 5,000,000 pounds of cod fillets, 1,000,000 pounds of pollock fillets, and 1,000,000 pounds of founders.

BOYS FOR MINES

Younger People May Have To Be Employed In Britain

BLACKPOOL, Eng.—Ernest Bevin, Britain's labor minister, told the Mineworkers' Federation of Great Britain that younger people, perhaps between the ages of 16 and 18, may have to be employed in the coal mines to make good the deficiency of labor.

A few hours after Bevin stated the urgency in calling for 50,000 to 60,000 youths to the mines, the Federation's executive committee decided to send a delegation to inquire into the details of the plan.

The Duchess of Kent has become patron of the Royal Naval Film Corporation.

WHEAT DELIVERIES

Quota Unmet Will Be Good In New Crop Year

OTTAWA—Trade Minister MacKinnon told the House of Commons that western grain farmers who, through no fault of their own, are unable to take full advantage of their wheat delivery quotas before the end of the crop year, will be permitted to do so during the next crop year.

He was replying to a number of questions on difficulties being encountered in finding space for quota deliveries, and cars for moving wheat eastward.

Gordon Ross (Lib., Moose Jaw) said the end of the crop year (July 31) is less than two weeks off. It was "obvious" some farmers would be prevented by lack of elevator space, from making the deliveries allotted to them for the current year.

He suggested that in such cases deliveries not accepted at the end of the crop year should be added to the quota for that particular farmer in the next crop year.

Mr. MacKinnon said this would be arranged in the case of those whose failure to fill deliveries were not their own fault.

The minister said there were some 13,000 railway cars loaded with wheat at Port William and west, held up because of scarcity of manpower to unload them.

He was informed, Mr. MacKinnon added, that this problem was near solution. Arrangements were also being made to place cars at western elevators to relieve the congestion.

Farm Debts Bill Has Finally Been Passed By House

OTTAWA—The House of Commons passed a bill to facilitate compromises and arrangements between prairie farmers and their creditors, although western opposition members continued to the last their effort to have its provisions widened to the benefit of the farmer.

Here are the main features of the new bill:

1. It extends the system of farmer-debt adjustment to Manitoba in addition to Alberta and Saskatchewan.

2. It retains the limiting date of May 1, 1935, but provides that if two-thirds of a farmers' debts were incurred prior to that date, he may seek an adjustment of all debts, including those incurred subsequent to that date.

3. It allows cases to be reopened where farmers made a composition of debt prior to Jan. 1, 1939.

4. It establishes new machinery for the administration of the act by substituting for boards of review the county or district courts of the provinces, with appeals to a single judge of the superior or appeal courts of the provinces.

After the bill had been approved by the house in committee, Victor Quelch (N.D., Acadia) moved that it be referred back to committee to be amended so that it could conform to suggestions submitted by a western debt conference at Saskatoon, Sask., last March 25.

The motion was ruled out of order by Speaker J. A. Glen who said that if it were approved it would change the basic principle of the bill and might add to government expenditures.

In discussion of the debt adjustment bill, Finance Minister Isley amended a clause providing that a farmer might not sell land affected by such reduction, except by leave of a court.

The original clause had been protested by western members who said it meant that although the farmer had no right to make more than one proposal for debt adjustment, the creditor might benefit if the land involved were sold within five years at a price higher than that indicated in the debt adjustment agreement.

By his amendments, Mr. Isley said the section would apply only to the future, and to compositions and arrangements made under the bill. He proposed also that the time limit should be reduced to three years, and that any additional amount a court decided was due creditors as the result of a farm sale should be paid into court instead of directly to the creditors. The amendments were approved.

FASCISTS MUST GO

LONDON—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden pointed Fascist leaders will be ousted from all occupied Italian territory. Eden told the House of Commons that one of Britain's war aims is the elimination of the Fascist regime.

Lancaster Crew Meet Their Excellencies

Their Excellencies, the Governor-General of Canada, and the Princess Alice were keenly interested in firsthand accounts of bombing attacks on Germany gained from the all-Canadian crew which flew to Canada recently to take back to Britain the first Canadian-built Lancaster when it comes off the assembly line at Malton, near Toronto. Veterans of the all-out attacks on Germany and Italy, the Lancaster crew of R.C.A.F. fliers have had upwards of 30 bombing raids to their credit. Shown here on the garden steps of Rideau Hall, Ottawa, where they were entertained by Their Excellencies, are: (First row, left to right): Pilot Officer Steve Boczar, Saskatoon; the Earl of Athlone and the Princess Alice; Squadron Leader R. J. Lane, D.S.O., D.F.C., of Victoria, B.C., leader of the Lanc. party. (Back row, left to right): Flight Sgt. R. E. Bugar, Truro, Sask.; Sgt. M. Bussanah, Brandon, Man.; Pilot Officer J. ## Approve Plan For Soldiers To Help With Crop

OTTAWA—An arrangement by which soldiers may be permitted to help farmers with the 1945 harvest has been approved, Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons, answering a question from J. G. Dieffenbaker (Prog. Con., Lake Centre).

The minister expressed objection to suggestions that men in "the home defence army" be released for farm work.

"There is no such thing in Canada as a home defence army," said the minister. "There is the active army which has in it certain men who were called up for service in Canada, and the territorial waters thereof."

There were also general service troops but they were serving together in the same units.

"These so-called home defence troops are part of the active army," he said. "They are serving on the coast, on the searchlights, on the anti-aircraft guns, in Newfoundland in Labrador, in Alaska, in the Bahamas."

The suggestion that these men be released meant to break down completely the units which now are engaged on duties which the chief of the general staff, in consultation with the chief of staff of U.S., considered essential to the defence of this continent.

There were no soldiers "walking

ALL ARE AGREED

Parties Pass Bill To Set Up Physical Fitness Council

OTTAWA—The various parties in the House of Commons all endorsed and speedily passed a bill to set up a national council on physical fitness introduced by Peniston Minister MacKenzie.

During discussion of the physical fitness bill, Mr. MacKenzie said it was based on a recommendation of the social security committee, it provides for a grant of $225,000 to the provinces on a 50-50 basis to encourage physical fitness undertakings. Each province would have a member of the council, with the national director the only paid official.

There would be co-operation among federal government departments, among the provinces, and with voluntary agencies and individuals carrying out physical fitness work. Enlistment figures had brought home the fact that the standard of physical fitness among Canadians was not as high as it should be.

Mr. MacKenzie said a special school was proposed for the training of physical fitness teachers, and it would be under the direction of provincial authorities.

He told Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) that a rough division of the grant between provinces would be:

Prince Edward Island, $2,000; Nova Scotia, $11,000; New Brunswick, $9,000; Quebec, $65,000; Ontario, $74,000; Manitoba, $14,000; Saskatchewan, $18,000; Alberta, $16,000, and British Columbia $16,000. Payments would be based on population.

around doing nothing." All were on duty or in training.

Col. Ralston said there are two provisions for farm leave from the army: Compassionate leave where there was hardship on the farm, and agricultural leave which was available to certain classes of soldiers for seeding.

Leave for harvest would be granted under the same condition as for seeding.

In addition, said the minister, for the last four days the army had been discussing further arrangements with the labor department's selective service officers. There were two proposals: Leave for additional men and use of army detachments.

Some 5,500 men were already on leave from the active army for farm work.

The army was also co-operating with the labor department in making the services of prisoners of war available for farm work. In some cases the army was taking responsibility for the security of prisoners placed on farms.

"We needn't be surprised if we hear of the odd escape," he said. "If so, I hope it won't be treated as a major international incident."

WAVELL'S NEW TITLE

LONDON—Press association reported that Sir Archibald Wavell, raised to the peerage as he prepares to become viceroy of India, will take the title Viscount Wavell of Cyrenaica and Winchester.

New Service For Fire Fighters Is Being Planned

OTTAWA—War Minister LaFleche told the House of Commons consideration was being given to the possibility of finding some other service for the 412 men making up Canada's civilian fire-fighting corps overseas, now that bombing attacks on Britain have greatly lessened.

He said they were being permitted and encouraged to train for the armed forces.

Gen. LaFleche was answering questions in committee of the whole during consideration of his war appropriation estimates, which included $975,000 for maintaining this force. They were a finely-trained and fit company, he said.

Members of this corps receive the same pay and pension benefits as members of the army.

The minister said a number of the corps were conscientious objectors. The corps was organized entirely on a volunteer basis.

Gen. LaFleche said the Canadians had been used in some of the most bombed places but the question of reduced need for their services was under consideration, with a view of finding whether or not they could be used more effectively elsewhere.

Many of the corps were on leave from their own brigades and he believed that their training and experience would fit them to become future fire chiefs in their own communities. They came from 117 municipalities, representing every province.

Their origin was as follows: Nova Scotia, five; Prince Edward Island, three; New Brunswick, four; Quebec, 30; Ontario, 287; Manitoba, 27; Saskatchewan, 22; Alberta, 12, and British Columbia, 32.

POLICY IN SICILY

People Will Not Be Allowed Political Activities At Present

LONDON—Prime Minister Churchill assured the House of Commons the Allied military administration in Sicily would permit no political activities by Sicilians at present, but that the government hoped they would adopt democratic ideas of their own accord when delivered from the Fascists.

Replying to questions, Mr. Churchill said both the U.S. and British were providing experts in civil administration to assist the military administration.

Foreign Secretary Eden told the house that the administration would not permit the formation of a collaborationist regime with the help of former Italian Fascists.

MAKING REVISION

Some Changes Being Made In Regulations Covering Rentals

OTTAWA—Russell Smart, K.C., administrator of rentals for the prices board, said the rental regulations are being revised, but that he did not want to anticipate them by advance publicity.

Reports circulated in Ottawa that one of the changes likely to be made would reduce from one year to six months the notice to vacate which must be given to tenants. Evictions would be forbidden from October to April.

LEAVE BOMBED CITIES

STOCKHOLM—Berlin despatches to the Swedish press described a great stream of Germans flowing through the German capital to places of greater safety farther east from the bomb-blasted cities of the west and northwest. Their ultimate destination was not stated.

HIGHEST REVENUE

OTTAWA—Canadian railways earned $65,338,084 in April—the greatest monthly revenue on record—against $50,596,977 in the corresponding month of 1942, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. Best previous month was last December, with revenues of $65,593,113.

BACK IN ENGLAND

OTTAWA—Air raid precautions equipment valued at $4,583,153 has been distributed in Canada, it was reported in a House of Commons return.

REFLECTIONS IN THE ZOO

Scientific planning of our post-war society being the order of the day, it seems strange that no one has yet got around to making a few laboratory tests of the new ideas. A chemist with a new explosive in mind would have the elementary caution to work out his formula in a test tube and ascertain its properties and peculiarities, before he mixed a batch of a ton or two. No matter how safe his formula was in theory, he would know that there is an innate cussedness in chemicals that lies in wait for the unwary.

Laboratory tests of social security should not be difficult to arrange. There is a ready-made laboratory in Riverdale Park, Toronto, where the city supports a small zoo. There are lions, tigers, bears, monkeys and several other animals leading a sheltered and ostensibly care-free existence. They are fed regularly at the public expense, and receive expert medical attention if they fall ill.

It seems an ideal existence. The benign expression on the lion's face perhaps reflects the inner wisdom born of long days of contemplation. The polar bear also appears content, except on the hottest days, when he betrays a trace of nostalgia for the Arctic. Nevertheless, he is a sensible creature, and after many years' experience of social security, he has no doubt come to realize how fortunate he is to be enjoying the cultural and social advantages of Toronto instead of waiting for a seal on an ice-floe in Lancaster Sound.

The monkey, more gregarious than lions and polar bears, seem to get more positive enjoyment out of life. They are always interested in watching the peculiar antics of their cousins on the far side of the bars, and one gets the impression that their comments are pithy, if not invariably polite. The cynical glance that a monkey casts towards the taxpayer who supports him indicates an intellectual appreciation of life in the zoo. The monkey has no intention of relinquishing his social security. He can judge how far it is safe for him to go. He knows exactly when the taxpayer must be flattered or amused and when he may be treated with contempt.

The larger animals keep their feelings to themselves, except when a dog evades the strict rule of the park and wanders past their cages. Then bedlam break loose. Deep-throated howls of jealousy are heard all over the park. The intruder may be the ugliest little unwashed mongrel that roams the streets, in daily peril from traffic and dog-catchers; but he is free.—The Printed Word.

The five battleships lost by the Royal Navy during the war have been replaced by mighty 35,000-ton battleships. Though over 80 destroyers have been lost in action, more than double this number have been built to replace them. When the war began, Britain had six aircraft carriers. After three years of war, only HMS Furious survived; but when the American troops landed in North Africa, there were several Royal Navy carriers present.

A greenhorn from Calgary spent Sunday fishing along Castle River. He had hooks as large as he could make them from the prongs of the farmyard fork, using a half pound of steak as bait, or else half a badger. He has apparently gathered the correct idea of the size of fish in the Rocky Mountain streams.

Pensions to old-age and blind persons have been increased from $20 to $25 a month. However, not all pensioners will receive this increase. Regulations require that no pensioner may receive in combined pension and outside income more than $365 a year. Under the former maximum of $20 a month or $240 a year, the allowable outside income was $125 a year. A blind person who is single is allowed an outside income of $440 a year, and the ceiling on outside income for a married blind person or a widow or widower with children is $640.

AND WHO SAID "POOR FISH?"

In these days of rationing and restrictions of the cup that cheers, it seems the height of something or other to feed brandy to fish. Nevertheless, it was once recommended as a means of keeping fish alive out of water for ten or twelve days while moving them from point to point, but at the point of destination you could not even smell the brandy—no roof sufficient that the fish enjoyed and cherished it.

Some years ago, T. E. Peters, of Gray Creek, one of the rainbow trout fishing centres on Kootenay Lake, clipped the following from the London Daily Mail. The writer, D. Cook, explained he had found it in an old notebook discovered in a drawer he was cleaning out.

Take a small piece of bread, soak it in brandy and put a bit in each of the fish gills. Pack the fish in clear straw, and you may move it as you like, with indifference to the fish, as it is in a state of drunkenness, as may be proved by putting it in water at the end of a specified time, when it will sober up and thrive. Just how old this prescription may be is not known, but one thing is certain, it must have originated in the days when brandy flowed more freely than now.

Television, stated by authorities to be as far advanced as radio broadcasting was in 1927, promises to become one of the great postwar industries.

Follows Father as C.P.R. Vice-President

Eric A. Lealle (left), newly appointed vice-president and comptroller of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, is carrying on a family tradition in that high position for his father, John Lealle (right), was vice-president and comptroller of the company from 1926 until 1933 at which time he became vice-president of finance and treasurer, a position he retained until 1932 when he retired after more than half a century of railway work. The new vice-president and comptroller is 48 years old and has been associated with the company for 30 years. His record was broken by attendance at McGill University on a Canadian Pacific scholarship and three years overseas service in the Great War as a lieutenant with the Canadian Artillery. He won two medals as a student—the Governor General's Silver Medal at Montreal High School and the British Association Medal in transportation at McGill University where he graduated from the Faculty of Applied Science.

Ten cars of coal were derailed near Kipp on Wednesday evening when in transit from Blairmore to Winnipeg. The cars were badly damaged, but the coal was salvaged. No one was injured, nor was traffic delayed. Cause of the derailment has not been determined.

SHARE CAR PLAN ON WEEK-END TRIPS

Sharing of car rides, which has been advocated by the Alberta Motor Association as a war conservation measure, has given some good results. This practice has been generally adopted by groups in some Alberta cities and towns, just as the movement has caught on in other parts of the country.

In this holiday period, when citizens are making short trips to lake resorts, the "share your car" plan can also be usefully employed.

There are many instances where a person with a car only half-full could accommodate several others waiting to week-end at a lake or visit their family there. All this would in the aggregate amount to a big saving in fuel, the groups changing about each week. It would be a most practical demonstration of the spirit of war conservation even under holiday conditions.

One of the best known placenames in Alberta is Crowstown, which is familiar as the name of a mountain, a pass, a lake, a river and a village. The name, according to the Geographic Board of Canada, is first mentioned by Capt. The map accompanying final report of the expedition, published in 1865, shows Crows' Nest Mountain. The mountain name is the original one and refers to the nesting place of crows and ravens. ## CANADA PRODUCES FINEST ALTIMETERS; HUNDREDS GO MONTHLY TO ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE

Merion Rogers, 15, tests "world's most sensitive instrument." Apparatus duplicates actual flying conditions, even to vibration of a plane.

A bomber drones through the fog, returning from another successful raid over Germany. Tired, but with a sense of a job well done, the pilot prepares to land his giant craft. A glance at the altimeter on the instrument panel tells him it is time to level off preparatory to starting his landing procedure. In a few moments the plane is on the ground, the motor silenced and the crew away to a well earned rest. Without the sensitive altimeter to indicate its height, the plane might have crashed. On its hairline accuracy depends the life of the crew. On its accuracy, too, depends the successful bombing of their target. For whether at sea level or at 35,000 feet, the instrument must show altitudes or heights correctly.

Less than a year ago, the Kollman Sensitive altimeter was imported. No factory in Canada was capable of making "one of the world's most sensitive instruments," as it is called. In a few short months, a new plant was built, workers trained to work to an accuracy of .0002 of an inch, and now hundreds of altimeters are being turned out each month to be used by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

This Canadian product not only equals but surpasses in performance those made in other countries. Under the severe strain of sub-zero temperatures, imported models were not accurate enough to comply with RCAF specifications. The Canadian instrument has been compensated to cut this allowable error—or tolerance, as it is known to the trade—by 40 per cent.

Donations of clothing and furniture had been made to the Red Cross for refugee children and other needs, and $750 to the Queen's Canadian Fund.

C.P.R. RUSHES BACON TO BRITAIN

Many millions of pounds of Canadian bacon for embedded Britain have been handled in Canadian Pacific Railway overhead refrigerator cars, similar to the one being led in this picture. It is revealed by H. J. Main, general superintendent of transportation, whose department directs these precious loads needed by fighting men and civilians. Particularly suited for continuing the cure of bacon in transit there are 340 of these cars of a type pioneered on the North American continent by the Canadian Pacific seven years ago. This constitutes the largest overhead-type refrigerator fleet in Canada and the United States, with all of the overhead cars running as "bacon specials" while 2,540 refrigerator cars of other types look after the handling of the fresh meat, fish, fruits and vegetables needed for specialities—a healthy Canada.

WORLD HAPPENINGS

DEVELOP YOUR TALENT FOR FASHION DRAWING

Fashion Drawing

Is your ambition to be a fashion artist? Many girls and men also have become interested in this, especially in more recent years, because of the increasing popularity of the profession.

The fashion artist's objective in most cases is to sell merchandise. You must learn, therefore, to present a piece of merchandise as attractively as possible so that many women will want it. An example of fashion art is pictured above.

You must idealize and dramatize the figure underneath a garment. Of course it must be realized that it is not a profession that one can step right into without any ability whatsoever. You do need an observant eye, a good imagination, good taste, accuracy, a sense of proportion and balance, plus a strong ambition to succeed.

You may not have excessive talent, but if you have a little you can develop it with work and patience. Our booklet helps the beginner showing how to draw all sorts of fashion figures with diagrams clearly illustrating. The simple instructions are not at all difficult.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Fashion Drawing Made Easy" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

MADE HISTORY

In the East African campaign, in 17 days (March 1-17, 1941), the columns under the command of General Cunningham drove an average of nearly 44 miles a day. This is the fastest military pursuit in history, and is approached only by the record of the Eighth Army in 1942-43.

ROOM FOR EVERYONE

The population of the earth is estimated at 2,000,000,000. That's a lot of people, and still there is plenty of room for everyone to enjoy a happy, prosperous and contented life, if all these people would only learn how to get along with each other without quarreling.

Poor Penmanship

Illegible Handwriting Seems To Be Rule Rather Than Exception

The Huron Examiner, Sault Ste. Marie, says: The teaching of penmanship in either public or secondary schools would appear to have become particularly conspicuous by its absence, if one is to judge by results produced by the average boy or girl, when they put pen to paper either by way of correspondence or examination papers.

Of course penmanship is not as important as it once was, but it is still important enough to be taught, and still more important that school pupils be able to convey their thoughts on paper as intelligently and legibly on examination papers as by oral means.

At least that is the opinion of a high school teacher of English, who after his patience and persuasive powers had become exhausted, issued the following ultimatum to his pupils:

"Put holes in your e's and o's and dot the i's somewhere near the right place; also make your n's different from your u's. Otherwise papers will not be accepted unless these five letters are treated fairly." And it worked.

If the average pupil was allowed to talk as carelessly as he or she writes, the result would be an unintelligible mumble. But while there seems to be, in schools, an attempt to prevent gross mistakes in grammar, there is evidently very little objection expressed to persistent carelessness in handwriting. In fact, one sometimes wonders if it was not looked upon as a distinction to have a style of handwriting that was next to impossible to read.

We are told that "as the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined." And there is more than a little truth in that statement. Enough at least to advise school pupils to wait until they are famous before they squish their signatures down into a scratch or scrawl, because by that time they will have gained enough sense and experience to understand how utterly foolish it is.

TAKES OVER THEATRES

Berlin dispatches said Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels had taken over the operation of all German theatres from private operators because of dissatisfaction with the programs. The reports indicated he believed the programs were not attuned to the Nazi war effort.

Mobile Express Handler

"Waybill Coop", is the expressman's term for this mobile office designed for quick handling of small express packages at the Canadian National Central Station in Montreal. The "coop" mounted on wheels is quickly moved wherever wanted to check weights and provide shipping labels. The waybill clerk shown in the photograph is Jack Perry, and the scalesman is Philippe Robitaille.

Worth The Effort

Salvaging Of Training Ship Gave Britain Tons Of Steel

A few years ago the naval training ship Caledonia, formerly the 56,000-ton Cunard White Star liner Majestic and still earlier the German liner Bismarck, sank in the Firth of Forth after an outbreak of fire. She was in deep water, but she was needed for the war, so the British salvage section of Steel Control went to work. Captain C. G. Bonner, Q-ship V.C. of the last war, was officer in charge of the salvage. The operation was one of the most successful ever achieved. Eighteen hundred tons, as well as hull components, had to be sealed by divers before the ship was pumped dry. She came up at the first attempt. As a result, Britain gets 40,000 tons of steel from what was once the world's biggest ship—Ottawa Citizen.

Scientists are about evenly divided on whether the moon's craters were formed by meteorites or volcanoes.

Explanations and Comments

The Struggle with Pharaoh, Exodus 15:1-21. Read Exodus 4:18 (where two weeks ago we left off our study of the Making of a Nation) to 4:31. The oppressed Israelites heard the message brought to them by Moses and Aaron, believed that Jehovah had seen their affliction, and bowed their heads and worshiped. The next task awaiting these leaders was at the court of Pharaoh. When they went there and asked Pharaoh's permission for the Israelites to go into the wilderness and hold a feast unto Jehovah, Pharaoh answered, "I know not Jehovah, and moreover I will not let Israel go; and then he charged Moses and Aaron with having made the people slacken their labors. He saw that these men did not present him with a request, but with a mandate from One of greater authority than himself. This stung him to the quick. He also was a god. Who was this other God, stronger than himself, who dared to issue such a summons?"

The result of the interview with Pharaoh was that he ordered their Egyptian taskmasters and Hebrew officers to require the Hebrews to gather their own straw for their brick making (which had hitherto been furnished them) and to make the same number of bricks daily despite this extra labor. It was an impossible task, and the Hebrew officers set over the people by the taskmasters were beaten for their failure to accomplish it.

These officers took the matter into their own hands and laid their case before Pharaoh, only to be told: "Ye are idle, ye are idle—therefore ye say, Let us go and sacrifice to Jehovah. Go therefore now and work; for there shall no straw be given you, yet shall ye deliver the number of bricks." On their return from this disheartening errand they met Moses and Aaron and bitterly charged them with bringing about this terrible additional affliction.

Moses in his Discouragement Turns to God, Exodus 16:1-22. Moses' faith was severely tried. "He lay on the ground alone before God, wishing himself back to Midian, and thinking himself hardly used," and daringly he laid the blame for the tragic situation upon God. Why had God sent him hither; why had God dealt so ill with his people; why had God not delivered them from Pharaoh's power?

Fine Marine Oil

Is Obtained From Seed Of Black Argentine Rape

A new crop to appear in Saskatchewan this year is Black Argentine rape, grown because of the fine marine oil that can be obtained from the seed. Five thousand pounds of rape seed is available this year. Sown at 10 pounds per acre, it will result in approximately 500 acres of Black Argentine rape in Saskatchewan this year. Unlike sunflower seed, rape seed has been placed in the hands of experienced seed growers in the province. It will be grown largely in northern sections, according to officials of the Department of Agriculture.

Not one British warship has been sunk by an Italian surface vessel during the two and a half years since Italy entered the war. It is calculated that by March 1943, the Italian Fleet had lost 10 cruisers, 48 destroyers and a large number of submarines.

New Customers

Figures Show Why Merchants Should Keep On Advertising

"A new customer is born every 104 seconds. An old one dies every 21.5 seconds. Industry loses 1,460,000 old customers in a year and gains 3,020,000 new ones who know nothing of you or of your product." That's what a top official of the War Production Board recently told fellow Americans, urging businessmen to place no dependence on the traditional way of doing business, of marketing, distributing and selling, urging them to seek for the new, to go on telling their story through advertising whether they had goods to sell or not.

For Canada his figures would be approximately these:

A new Canadian customer is born every three minutes. As an old customer dies every five minutes, Canadian industry loses 115,000 customers a year and it gains 285,000 new ones "who know nothing of you or your product."—Financial Post.

THE HUMAN COMEDY

Adapted from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture
by BEATRICE CAMMER

CHAPTER ONE

Fleecy clouds floated over the little town of Itasca, California. Above them, hovered the spirit of Matthew Macaulay who, two years before had departed on the mysterious journey of death.

As the clouds parted Matthew could see his homeland, vineyards, orchards, the church, little houses, all in scattered fragments, like life itself. He noted his tiny five-year-old son, Ulysses, starting at a gopher which had pushed up the dirt in the backyard. There too was sixteen-year-old Homer, living in a world of youth's confusion, groping for the design of understanding, of faith and courage in life. Far off in an army camp was his eldest son, Marcus, proud of the uniform he wore, tenderly writing home to the folks. At home, under the lamplight he saw his dear wife Katey, remembering him in her thoughts, in the songs she sang, in the Bible chapter she read each night to the family.

It was this protective, gentle spirit that filled young Homer, this day, as he hurried to the telegraph office after school. He had a job as a messenger boy. It had started yesterday. Now he was going to make good and help support the family. It was a proud and awesome thought for a young fellow to have.

Tom Spangler, manager of the office watched him gravely as he tore in to report for duty. "Homer, how do you like being a messenger?"

"Homer's blue eyes snapped. "I think it's great, Mr. Spangler. You sure get to see a lot of different people and go to different places."

Spangler nodded. This kid had stuff. Honor. Ambition. And the capacity to be hurt. He'd be a fine grown-up citizen one day. But you're starting out all right. But don't kill yourself. Get there swiftly but not too fast. Be polite to every body. Take off your cap in the elevators. Above all, never lose a telegram. If there's anything you don't understand come to me."

Homer shifted from one foot to the other. "Yes sir. But about these singing telegrams."

"Well? You've got a pretty good voice haven't you?"

"They used to let me sing at the First Presbyterian Sunday School."

"That's fine," Spangler clapped him on the back. Over at the desk, Willie Grogan, the grey-haired telegrapher, winked approval too. Spangler went on hesitating. "That's exactly the kind of voice we want for our singing telegrams. Rich, full and kind. You see."

He broke off. A young fellow, thin and shabby was shuffling in. He silently handed Spangler a telegram already written out. Spangler checked it. The boy was sending a message to his mother, asking for enough money to get home on.

Spangler tapped it thoughtfully. "I'll be about one in the morning when this arrives. Do you want them to wake your mother up at that hour?"

The boy coughed painfully. His face was twisted with the suffering of that woman as he came into the office again. Then he stopped short. Grogan was in his chair, his head back, his mouth open. He was quite drunk. The telegraph box began to rattle.

Homer remembered his instructions. "First, he threw a paper cupful of water in Grogan's face. Grogan began to revive. He was muttering, "That's right. Thank you boy," as Homer dashed out for the coffee.

A few minutes later, with the coffee inside him, Grogan was almost himself again as he took another telegram off the wire. When he had completed the job, he swung around in his swivel chair. "You did that remarkably well son. I congratulate you."

Homer gestured at the message. "Yes sir. Thank you. Is that an important telegram?"

Grogan fingered it. "Business. The accumulating of money. Most unimportant. But important for me to receive it. They've been trying to retire me for ten years now." He pounded the desk unexpectedly. "But I've worked all my life and I'm not going to stop now. I'd die if I did."

Homer stared in wonder. "Why shouldn't you go on working? If a fellow wants to work nobody should stop him."

"Hah!" Grogan snorted. "I wish you'd explain that to the head office. Why I was the fastest telegrapher in the business and no mistakes either, mind you. Ah, sing me a song, boy. Protect me from the murder of age and time. Protect me with your songs and young dream. Sing boy!"

So Homer sang to him of the church in the wildwood, the church bells, the vale but he was so troubled. He thought of that sick boy without money. Of Mrs. Sandoval and her dead son. Of poor old Grogan here who would die if he couldn't work.

It was very confusing. The world was full of good things and bad. The good things were human beings. But bad things happened to them. Then did that make the human beings bad?

(Without knowing it Homer is growing up. There is much in store for him that he cannot foresee. He is sure to read the next exciting chapter in which Homer comes to grips with a big problem.)

Used To Billions

Patron At Cafeteria Bar Had Trouble With Small Change

One recent afternoon a London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal had to attend the House of Commons. One of the discomforts of this necessity was having to forgo a club lunch for a meat pie and a bath bun at the cafeteria bar shared by M.P.'s and journalists. But on this particular occasion the ordeal had its compensations. What the writer was munching his pie, there dashed in an elderly plump little gentleman who looked like Mr. Pickwick in the flesh. He was manifestly in a desperate hurry, ordered a fish sandwich and a cup of coffee, got slightly mixed up over his change for half-a-crown, and proceeded to devour the sandwich at a rate of which his family doctor would certainly not have approved.

"Old gent" seems in a bit of a "hustle," observed a stalwart Dominion trooper with whom the writer had struck acquaintance. "Yes," replied the writer. "He's very busy."

"Is he?" commented the overseas warrior. "I notice he was a bit stumped, like myself about your small change!"

"Well," said the writer. "He's more used to dealing with billions." "Gosh!" said the man from overseas. "He's lumping cheap."

"Yes," replied the writer. "He's the Chancellor of the British Exchequer, and he's in a hurry. Have another coffee!"

A LOT OF MONEY

United States was expenditures which for the last three years have averaged about $90,000,000 daily, are expected by the treasury department to reach the sum of $265,000,000 for every day during the fiscal year which started July 1.

TWO MILLION LEPROSERS

There are still more than 2,000,000 lepers in the British Empire, said Sir William Peel, chairman of the executive committee, at the annual meeting of the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association.

There is no shortage of beef in Canada

In contrast to what is happening in the United States, there is no shortage of beef in Canada, where ranchers have set a record in meat production so far in the war and have set a 1943 goal of 1,200,000 head and a 30 per cent. increase for this year. (Above) you see a herd of beefs being driven through Picture Butte, Alta., a typical western Canadian cow town, to the feeding pens adjacent to the railroad corral. Canada will not only produce enough meat for her own consumption and for shipments to the United Nations this year, but will retain a "safety factor" of 155,248 head for emergency. Financial support to the ranchers by the government makes this progress possible.

War Hero

F.L.T. SGT. GEO. CALVER WITH AIR MARSHAL BISHOP

Grandview, Manitoba, is proud of F.L.T. Sgt. George Calver as shown here with Air Marshal W. A. Bishop.

In his first flight since he was wounded in a raid over Cologne. Equipped now with artificial limbs, he is pictured on the de Havilland field in Toronto, where he addressed thousands of the workers on Thursday, July 15th. (Photo by courtesy of the R.C.A.F.)

You couldn't talk to George for more than a few moments without being glad to know him. He's a healthy strong bodied man of 27, married, and says he's anxious to get back for another crack at certain European "this and that".

Flying in the Cologne raid with the crew of a big four-motored Halifax, they hit Cologne with everything they had, but on the way back and about 90 minutes from home, "ak suddenly" sliced right up through the plane and through the legs of F.L.T. Sgt. Calver at his station in the tail.

One leg was blown off and the other badly injured. He crawled to where the engineer could put a tourniquet on each of his legs then held them in position for an hour till the plane landed.

"That was only a short few months ago and to see him now you'd hardly believe the story—especially that he never lost consciousness at any time. Taking matters philosophically about his loss, he says he asked the doctors at Christie St. hospital to make his legs four inches longer but then compromised with an extra inch only. He says that on the day after he had his legs amputated he received a parcel from his grandmother containing two pairs of socks. He doesn't worry about shortage of rubber for garters, he says, because in an emergency he can tack the socks to his legs!

It must have been an inspiration to the de Havilland workers, thousands of whom were allowed to see George and hear his words through the loud speaker system.

This plant which makes the de Havilland two-motored bomber, the Mosquito, among others, is now getting into stride on production and it is hoped will be of great aid to the cause in the numbers of planes they'll turn out to sting the Axis.

Our Western boys are doing great jobs everywhere in the armed forces, our girls are found working in factories and in war divisions right across the country and "over there"—it's just people like F.L.T. Sgt. Calver that come into the limelight now and again who remind the rest of the world what the West is doing.

Starts All Over

Toronto Restaurant Proprietor Is Now Wiping Dishes

One Toronto restaurant chain has been so hard hit by the shortage of labor that it is a common thing to see its president, Harry R. Himman, clearing away trays of dirty dishes, waiting on the counter or drying dishes in the kitchen.

"I'm back where I started 35 years ago, picking up dishes," he explained, and added: "Not that I think myself above wiping dishes, mind you. It's a necessary job and I enjoy doing it."

Mounted mail-carriers gave Amsterdam a sort of pony express as early as 1400.

Respected In Germany

Story About British Woman and Policeman in Berlin

A British woman who was among those recently released from Germany in exchange for German civilians says that even now—and perhaps more especially since our victories in North Africa—the British are respected in Germany!

One day this woman was walking in Berlin with a Jewess who wore the regulation yellow star. They were stopped by a policeman who asked the Briton sharply why she was not also wearing the star.

When she replied that she was British and therefore not subject to the regulation, he saluted and almost apologized.—London Daily Sketch.
